

Experimental Analysis of Human Behavior (EAHB) ABA Special Interest Group

Dr. Eahb Sig

Call for Student Papers

The Contest

Undergraduate and graduate students who have completed empirical or theoretical papers in the experimental analysis of human behavior are invited to submit their papers to the EAHB-SIG student paper contest. This contest specifically seeks to reward EAHB scholarship on basic research topics. All papers submitted are sent to at least two reviewers who have expertise in the topic area of the student paper (many of our reviewers serve on the editorial board of top behavioral journals). Papers that receive favorable reviews are recognized with an award. All student authors receive their reviews (regardless of award status). This is an excellent opportunity for talented students to receive early peer-review experience.

The Award

Award winners will...

- present their work as a specially recognized award poster at ABA 2004
- publish an abstract of their paper in the EAHB-SIG Bulletin (now online at <http://www.eahb.org/>)
- receive ABA student conference registration (student member), and a handsome commemorative award presented at the ABA Business Meeting

Deadline

September 13, 2003

(Rules, eligibility, and submission instructions on next page)

Rules & Eligibility

- The paper must concern basic research issues.
- The student must be the first and primary author. Advisors may provide conceptual and technical assistance, but co-authored manuscripts usually contain too much input from the advisor to qualify as a student paper. Contact the contest coordinator for more information about authorship.
- Current students and individuals who received their degree within one year of the submission deadline are eligible. Graduates can only submit papers written while they were in school. Undergraduate papers are given special consideration in the review process.
- Submissions should be prepared according to current APA publication guidelines and no longer than 30 pages.

Submission Instructions

Send via email two electronic documents (as MSWORD or PDF files) to <kraftjoh@mail.armstrong.edu>:

- A cover letter stating: 1) the title of the manuscript, 2) the student author's affiliation, correspondence address, e-mail address, and telephone (home and work/school), and 3) the faculty sponsor's name and address. If you do not receive acknowledgment within a week of your submission, please call or email.
- A manuscript. The title page should contain only the title--no author information (we conduct blind reviews). All charts, figures, and graphs should be embedded in the manuscript.

Send via mail...

- A letter from the faculty sponsor outlining the relative contributions of student and sponsor. Submitters should give their faculty sponsors early notification of this requirement, as the submission will not be reviewed until it is received.
